Animal feed: Control and co-operation from an EU/UK perspective

K. Millar

Animal Feed & Animal By-Products Unit, Food Standards Agency; UK

E-mail: samantha.northey@abagri.com

Drawing on nearly 40 years' experience in food and feed safety and developing policy for a range of sectors within the UK Agriculture Industry as well as working towards practical solutions for the feed sector since 1999 through the Advisory Committee on Animal Feedingstuffs (ACAF), Mr Millar will provide a unique perspective on how controls related to animal feed and livestock produce have been developed and enforced in the EU/UK.

The presentation will cover key EU food and feed safety legislation (i.e. full traceability along the supply chain, fast communication via the RASFF if there is a contamination issue and appropriate action when/where necessary), and key experience gained through involvement in it's practical implementation.

In addition to supporting a number of interest groups from China related to risk assessment and feed controls, Keith Millar has also been involved in activities that were delivered as part of the UK-China Action Plan on Food Security which was signed by the Chinese and UK Government in 2009.
